18 charged in police round-up

The crime rate throughout the Highlands has taken a beating since police arrested 18 people last week on a variety of charges related to break-ins.

Eight adults and 10 youths have been charged in this round-up, closing the books on investigations into 34 break-ins, 14 snowmobile thefts, two thefts of ATVs and two thefts of Jeeps, all of which have occurred since the beginning of January.

Constable Mike Landry said an intense investigation was underway for the past two weeks. The investigation was spearheaded by Minden OPP officers Steve Adam, Brian Sachs, Ken Wesley and Ron Buchanan.

Landry said there was a domino effect in solving these crimes. Officers solved one case and discovered that the others were loosely linked together. Many of those who were charged associate and work with the others, he said.

The adults charged in this round-up include Wayne Barr, 18, of Haliburton; James Titearo, 19, of Gooderham; Karl Mueller, 18, of Stanhope Township; Tracy Emmerson, 18, of Haliburton; Ryan Griffin, 20, of Haliburton; Melvin Mintz, 19, of Gooderham; Stephen Riel, 27, of Gooderham; and Jayson Grant, 19, of Wilberforce.

Ski Patrols at Sir Sam's treated 16 broken legs, 16 severely cut hands and 16 cases of shock on Saturday. Miraculously, following treatment, the victims leapt from the stretchers and returned to the slopes. Local patrollers, from the left, Wilf Van Lieshout, Ted O'Connell and Don Stephenson did their part rescuing the injured. See page 17 for a complete report.

School board is satisfied with current trustee complement

by Jerry Grozelle

Haliburton County Board of education members debated several options regarding trustee distribution at last week's meeting in the library of HHSS.

Five possible options were presented ranging from remaining the same (with one separate 14 public and school trustees) to reducing the number to as low as 10.

The consensus was that the Haliburton school board is functioning well as it is and that there would be no benefit or cost saving by reducing trustee numbers.

Lloyd Griffith said that he had spoken with several people and very few knew how many school board trustees the county has. When they were told that there are 15, some thought that it was too many. But those people also stated that they doubted if any community would want to give up one of its representatives.

Ecotourism: College expands programs at Haliburton campus

by Jerry Grozelle

Ecotourism is a term that will be heard in the Haliburton area quite frequently from now on.

The Haliburton campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College will be offering a one-year course on the subject starting this fall.

The Ecotourism Management course will be limited to 60 people and it is expected to attract the full complement of students.

"This course is the first of its kind in Canada, as far as we know," said Barb Bolin, principal of the Haliburton campus.

An additional 60 people in the Haliburton area will cause a spin-off boost to the local economy in terms of accommodation, food, recreation and all of the other services that those extra 60 people in the community will require.

Al MacPherson, professor and co-ordinator of the ecotourism management course, is excited about the new course.

"It's pretty unique," he said. "That's why I'm so excited about it."

MacPherson said that the course will have a positive impact, not only on the community, but on the province and the country as well. The community will benefit from the influx of up to 60 people who will be spending money in the area. It could also benefit the local economy when the students graduate and some of them find jobs with local resorts, inns and other tourism related businesses.

Graduates of the course will have diversified talents that are designed to increase the tourism base, keep people at resorts longer and give them more to do while they are at those facilities. They will also be qualified to help out with all aspects of the daily operation of the Candidates will face off eight times

Victoria-Haliburton voters will have plenty of opportunity to grill the candidates at eight meetings leading up to the March 17 by-election.

Haliburton County residents will have their first opportunity to see the candidates face off in a public forum on March 14, just three days before the election. The Haliburton forum, which is sponsored by the Haliburton District Real Estate Board, will be held at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home at 7:30 p.m.

An earlier local forum is slated for March 10 in Kinmount. This forum is sponsored by the Civic Action Committee and will be held at the Kinmount Community Centre at 7:30 p.m.

Quick Construction

Tremendous support for emergency shelter

"Can you build a house in a week?"

This is the question SIRCH is posing, and to some degree the ambitious nature of this task is being scoffed at.

Still, there are plenty of local builders and volunteers who are anxious to take up the challenge. So far 70 people have signed up to help build a Women's Emergency Shelter in the county this May.

At a meeting last week in Minden, project co-ordinator Jude King went through the building process with a small group of volunteers. She said the preliminary work will begin in April with the laying of the foundation, block work and subfloor. On May 7, the construction of the main portion of the house will begin in a flurry as dozens of workers set off building the frame. By May 13, a small crew will be putting the final touches on the 1,400-square-foot bungalow.

The work schedule for this project is based on plans provided by Habitat for Humanity -- an organization that set out to provide low cost housing in the U.S. Habitat has a proven formula for using volunteer labour to build houses within a very short time span.

King witnessed the construction process two years ago when her husband, Glen Diezel, attended a Timber Framers convention in Pennsylvania. A few dozen timber framers from Haliburton went to the convention and participated in the speedy construction of housing for the Habitat project.

King agrees it sounds impossible, but she has seen what is possible when volunteers set out to accomplish a task. Not only did the volunteers contribute to the construction of a house, but they left with a tremendous feeling of accomplishment, said King.

"The feeling of being involved in something like this will stay with me forever," she said of her experience in Pennsylvania.

The work towards the realization of an emergency shelter here began several years ago when Zoe Chilcoe recognized the need and began to organize fundraising events. The nearest shelters to Haliburton are in Lindsay and Bracebridge. This distance can cause hardship to the women and children who find themselves in need of this sort of facility.

Recently, King was hired by the local SIRCH group to be the project developer. She has been working to secure funding through the provincial JobsOntario program and says she is confident that the application will soon be formally approved.

The JobsOntario funding, however, will cover only a portion of the cost. Volunteer labour and the donation of land and materials will make up the local share of the cost.

The community response to this project has been tremendous, said King. When SIRCH asked for property for the house, 11 people came forth to offer lots. King said the committee has not yet settled on which lot is best suited for the project. She said a decision will soon be made, based on location relative to services and police.

Although more than 70 volunteers have signed up for this project, there are a few areas where specific skills are lacking. Specifically, King said there is a need for people with experience in masonry and drywall installation. People from Habitat for Humanity have advised that the drywall work is an area that can cause delays in the project. They say it's important to have skilled people in this area to keep the project on schedule.

King thanked the volunteers who turned out to last week's meeting. She said this sort of support demonstrates that people are enthusiastic about helping the women who will need this shelter.

"There will be 150 to 200 people who will have worked on this project, and that's going to send out an important message that we want them (the women) here and we want them to stay in the community."

Warden delivers cautionary address to Chamber members

The second in a series of business-to-business sessions, co-ordinated by the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce was held last Tuesday at the Wig-A-Mog Inn. Sponsored by the Inn along with County Commercial Printing, the sessions are designed to give business owners an opportunity to meet with others in business in the county.

The meeting also provides a forum for the Chamber to bring business owners up to date on its activities. The quarterly meetings are open to both Chamber members and non-members.

During the evening, several representatives of the Chamber's board of directors informed the group of 35 about the organizations latest publications, including the county map and lure guide. The group was also told about the Chamber's marketing plan, including the groups it will be targeting and the focus of the efforts. A progress report on the trails project was provided.

The Warden of the County, Jim McMahon, spoke to the gathering. Having just returned from the annual meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association in Toronto, the Warden told the gathering that the provincial government will be providing less financial support for local efforts in the future. "I don't have any good news for you this evening," the Warden said. "The word from the Ontario government is that we'll have to do more with less. Basically, if you want something to happen, you'll have to do it yourself." Premier Bob Rae addressed the Good Roads Association delegates.

The meeting closed with a brief look at some of the clips from the television program which is being prepared on the Minden Martin Techni-Cal Challenge sled dog derby. The viewers had an opportunity to see short segments of the film shot during the weekend. The group was told that other footage shot by the film crews will be used to produce a video promoting the Haliburton Highlands as a winter destination. Efforts are underway as well to have a second video prepared featuring the Highlands in the summer.

The show featuring the Minden Sled Dog Derby is scheduled for its first airing this Saturday evening at 8 p.m. on The Sports Network (TSN).

Before the meeting closed, those in attendance were reminded of the Chamber's new slogan. "Haliburton Highlands.....closer than you think."

Display celebrates former ranger school

by Jerry Grozelle

Deputy Minister of Natural Resources Bob Mitton was the guest of honour at the official opening of a display at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre last Wednesday.

Mitton cut the ribbon to open a display celebrating the Ontario Forest Ranger School, which operated at the site from 1945 to 1968.

Keith Argent, visitor services marketing specialist for provincial parks and Bob Stewart, manager of the Frost Centre assisted in the ribbon cutting ceremonies. Argent was a member of the last graduating class in 1968.

Thursday was an opportune time for the official opening since the centre was playing host to a group of ministry employees who were there participating in a combination think tank, information session and in-service training course.

The deputy minister was at the facility to speak to the participants about the direction the Ministry of Natural Resources is heading.

The group included people from the north-eastern region, which extends from north of Sudbury to Lake Superior through Timmins, Cochrane and Wawa to the Quebec border.

A group of managers from the central region was also on site participating

The Frost Centre's new exhibit illustrates the extent of progress made since the the last crop of ranger students graduated in 1968 in the training course. Several conservation officers were also present to upgrade their knowledge of procedures of prosecution, courtroom work and statement taking, among other things.

Along with Frost Centre staff, the celebration had a good turnout from the public for the opening.

The exhibit featured scores of photographs from the Forest Ranger School era and before, including photos of the graduating classes from each year.

The old "Department of Lands and Forests" logo has been reproduced on one wall to compliment the display and add another touch of the past.

After 1968, the training that had been provided by the Forest Ranger School was transferred to the community college system. "Lands and Forest" certificate courses continued to be offered.

The school was officially renamed in 1974 to honour the late Premier of Ontario, Leslie M. Frost, who had died the previous year.

The facility has undergone many improvements over the years. Most recently, it has added a computer classroom, wheelchair accessible entrances at all of the main buildings, an exercise room and two new conference rooms.

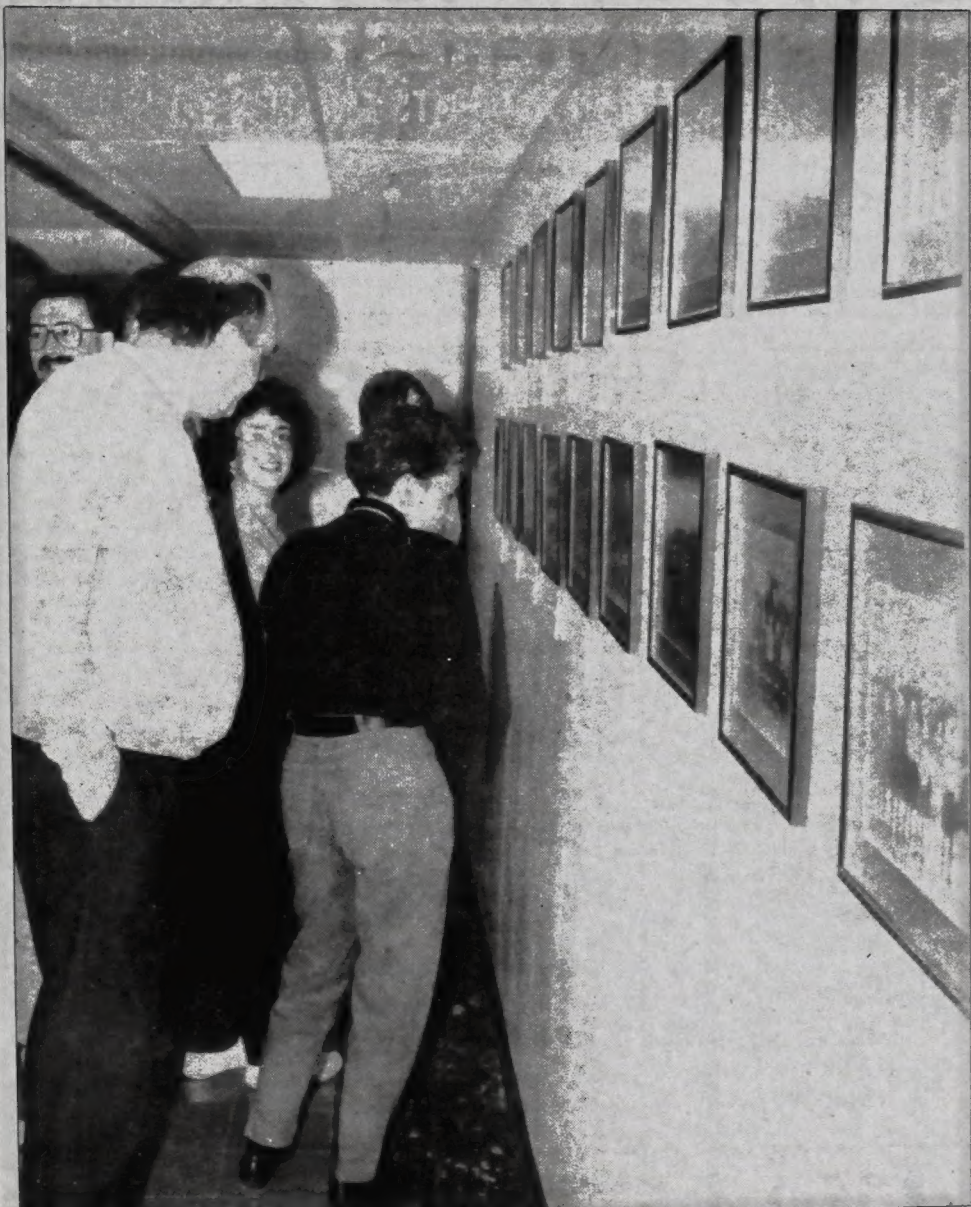

In contrast to the early days, where correspondence time was measured in days, the centre's staff and program participants can process information on the electronic highway known as electronic mail.

In 1992-93, an estimated 3,000 ministry staff members from across the province attended workshops, courses or meetings at the Frost Centre. Half of the six modules of the Ontario Advanced Forestry Program are conducted at the centre. The program provides advanced training in forest science for experienced foresters and resource managers.

Law enforcement training for conservation officers is also a major part of the centre's mandate. Those courses were moved from the Ontario Police College in Aylmer, Ontario. The law enforcement aspect is an intensive five-week course that includes enforcement, safety, human relations, management, surveillance and other investigative training.

The function of the centre has evolved over the years but now, visitors can get a sense of the past through the display in the halls of the lower level of the main building.

Graduating classes: Visitors and staff at the Frost Centre took time after the opening ceremonies for a new exhibit to check out the graduating class photos from 1945 to 1968.

150 turn out to Conservative fundraiser

About 150 people gave up a night of watching the Olympics to come out and support Chris Hodgson in his bid to win this riding in the provincial by-election.

The large Friday evening crowd at the Haliburton Legion gathered for a fundraising dinner and auction to help the PC candidate's chances of a win on March 17. They also came out to hear comments from Donald Johnson, Municipal Affairs critic for the Conservatives.

Johnson said he and Hodgson share several similarities. Johnson won his Don Mills seat in a by-election one year ago. Like Hodgson, he was trailing in the polls at the outset of the campaign, but managed to pull out an solid win with the support of a strong campaign team.

In his remarks, Johnson lashed out at the mismanaged finances of the provincial government over the past 10 years. Bob Rae's government inherited a huge debt from David Peterson's Liberals and continued to build on it, he said. The combined deficit of the past two years has been $22 billion, bringing the debt up to $78 billion.

"Imagine the drag that has on the annual budgets," he said. "What kind of legacy are we leaving our children?"

Johnson said it's time to revive the economy -- not through job creation but by stimulating the private sector. Job growth has to come from the private sector, he said, and from small businesses in particular.

In order for this to happen, the government must look at the tax structure and reduce the red tape and paperwork that hinder small business.

Hodgson kept his remarks brief at this social event. He promised to work hard to represent this riding. If elected, ago. Like Hodgson, he was trailing in the polls at the outset of the campaign, but managed to pull out an solid win with the support of a strong campaign team.

Hodgson kept his remarks brief at this social event. He promised to work hard to represent this riding. If elected,

I'll be your representative at Queen's Park -- not Queen's Park's representative here."

Conservative candidate Chris Hodgson says made-in-Toronto politics are unsuitable for rural Ontario.

"I'll work with you as a team. I'll be your representative at Queen's Park -- not Queen's Park's representative here."

Hodgson said it is unfortunate that the government direction of the past decade has failed to revive the economy. "A lot of honest and decent people have been forced out of work because of the economy," he said.

He said a Progressive Conservative government led by Mike Harris will help to restore the sense of achievement derived from hard work.

businesses they work for.

"We will be trying to market tourism in a green way," MacPherson said. "We are very nature oriented. I like to call it a nature-tourism course."

Along with co-ordinating the course, MacPherson will also teach. He said that teachers from the Lindsay and Peterborough campuses of Fleming will be coming to Haliburton on a part time basis and he will be looking for some local people to act as instructors on a part time basis as well.

"I know there are some very talented people locally," he said

This is a post-basic certificate program, which means that a prerequisite for the course is a two-year diploma in natural resources or tourism and hospitality or the equivalent. People with extensive experience in either of those fields may also apply. They will be assessed individually, based on prior learning assessment procedures adopted by the college.

The course is designed so those with a natural resources background will learn the tourism and hospitality side and vice versa.

Students of this course will gain an understanding of the growing global interest in ecotourism as a sustainable economic strategy. Case studies will be used to develop an understanding of the growing phenomenon. Current international developments, opportunities for developing learning programs for travellers and developing an awareness of and sensitivity for natural and cultural resources will be studied.

Under the ecotourism theme, students will learn about such things as customer expectations and service; program and event planning; ecotourism business development plans; programming development plans; tourism marketing; interpretation techniques; sales and consumer behavior; and taxonomy of ecosystems, among others.

Other features of the course, which are aimed at the tourism and hospitality graduates, include ecosystem dynamics and interactions; trees and shrubs of Ontario; conservation; habitat management for fish and wildlife; natural resource legislation; and natural resource skills for ecotourism programs.

Cutting back trustees would cost taxpayers

John Munro and Cheryl Murdoch both commented that reducing the number of trustees on the board would only serve to add to the workload of those who are left.

It was generally agreed that the present trustees have as much work as they can handle now without adding more.

"Every one of these trustees has a serious work load," Murdoch said. "I don't see what we are going to gain (by trimming trustee numbers)."

"I can see we would have to hire someone full time (to take up the slack)," she added.

Len Salvatori said that he didn't think they put much thought into it when ministry officials proposed cutting trustee numbers as a cost-saving measure.

"It's a perfect example of the ministry passing the buck — letting the middle guys do the dirty work," Wayne Wood said.

"I don't want to be one of the hatchet people. I want no part of it."

Tim Casey requested that the board contact the municipal councils within the county to get their input regarding the proposed re-distribution of trustees.

"Councils foot the bill so I think they should have a say," Casey said.

New government guidelines have stated that 13 (12 public and one separate) is the basic number of trustees for an area the size of Haliburton County. Local boards may only increase their numbers by a maximum of two but they may reduce the number by as many as they want.

If the Haliburton school board wants to keep its representation at 15 people it will be required to pass a resolution to that effect.

The guidelines state, in part: "A board may approve an increase of either one or two in the number of members of the board by resolution passed by three-quarters of the members of the board."

"There is no limit on the decrease in the number of members that can be made by a board but a member shall not vote to approve a decrease that in his or her opinion would have the effect of preventing the board from carrying out any of its duties."

A final decision on this matter must be made by March 31, 1994.

School board okays extra work at ASES

The Haliburton County Board of Education will be calling for tenders to complete the work at Archie Stouffer Public School in Minden. The school board passed a resolution at last week's meeting giving authorization to proceed with proposed items that were not included in the original construction contract.

"The board is looking at about 10 items," said Jim Bradley business administrator for the school board. "Part of it is library furniture and equipment, administration furniture and equipment and student furniture and equipment.

"When you go through the grant calculations, on determining what the government gives you to build, they are saying right now that we were in portables before, so therefore we don't need any furniture."

Bradley pointed out that the old library was about 1,000 square feet in size and the new library will be about three times that size.

"So, obviously, there has to be something done to upgrade that type of shelving and cabinetry and what have you," Bradley said. "So that's part of it."

Another part is some renovation to the old part of the school, which was not included in the contract. The original stone building had its roof replaced last year through a JobsOntario grant because it was badly leaking. The board is proposing to replace the damaged ceiling in the hall and paint and upgrade the classrooms.

Work on the playground is also on the wish list.

"There's playground equipment and work that has to be done on the playground. The playground area is really wet," Bradley said. "There's probably some extra grading that has to be done there."

The portables that are at the site now will be moved to other sites. Two of those four portables are slated to be transported to the high school in Haliburton while the other two will be going to Wilberforce and Gooderham.

Bradley told the board only one response to the ad to relocate the portables had been received. The cost of relocation will be $1,400 per unit.

"All we've done at this stage is got the approval to go and get more firm prices. Before we go ahead we would have to go through the tendering process and make sure we get the most bang for the buck," he pointed out.

Take an interest in by-election

For more than five months the provincial riding of Victoria-Haliburton has been without representation at Queen's Park. The vacancy has been evident in the high level of frustration expressed by local councils and board which sought advice and assistance in regard to their dealings with the province.

Now that a by-election has been called, however, it seems that the level of interest has fallen off. It might be that we're all politicked out after the federal election. It might be that there are few mouth-watering issues to spark our interest. Or it might just be that the late-winter timing of this campaign is taking its toll. In any case, we encourage everyone to consider the importance of this by-election.

After the ballots are counted, we'll finally have our representation in Provincial Parliament restored. But what sort of representation will we have?

There are three candidates in the running, each with dramatically differing philosophies on what is good for the riding and for the province. In order to elect the candidate who best represents our own beliefs, we must first take advantage of the opportunities to get out and hear the candidates.

There are eight candidates meetings scheduled to run between now and election day. All three candidates will be laying out their platforms and answering questions from the floor. If you have questions about the sort of representation these candidates are offering, these forums provide the opportunity.

This election is not just about filling the vacancy in Provincial Parliament. It's about selecting a member who has the greatest ability and desire to represent our needs in a political system that appears to forget that Ontario's boundaries extend well beyond those of Toronto.

In order to make a wise decision, we must be informed. Take an active interest in the various campaigns, and most importantly, get out to vote.

Decisive action against smuggling, but little help for addiction

Editor,

Given that less than one third of adult Canadians smoke, it is curious that the tobacco industry and various other business interests have so quickly mobilized political support to roll back taxes on cigarettes. It appears that all the work and effort of the health care community over the past 20 years to stem the epidemic of tobacco-related disease and death could be undone within a few short weeks. Why is it that politicians can be so quickly mobilized to support tobacco and business interests but are slow to respond to over 30,000 premature Canadian deaths annually?

Those who frame the issue as the right of adults to choose an unhealthy behaviour ignore that tobacco is both an addictive substance and that the vast majority of adult smokers became addicted as children. If the tobacco industry depended solely upon the addiction of informed adults, their sales would shrivel within a single generation. Usage would drop to perhaps only a few per cent, tens of thousands of premature deaths and hundreds of thousands of illnesses would be avoided.

When we can be so quick and decisive in responding to the crime of cigarette smuggling, why are we so slow to respond to the crime of addiction of our children and grandchildren?

Star-spangled crooks bungle with the best

What's the first thing that pops into your head when you hear the word Miami?

Chances are, quicker than I can say 'knee-jerk', the word "crime" pops up on your mindscreen. There was, after all, a hit TV show called Miami Vice. Just about every edition of your daily newspaper bristles with headlines about cocaine cartels, heroin busts and tourist homicides. And an awful lot of those headlines are followed by stories datelined 'Miami'.

Shouldn't be too surprising. Miami is a nice warm place, and crooks, like the rest of us, prefer to be nice and warm. We are talking about a country in which 38,000 people get shot to death every year; a country with the highest percentage of its citizens behind bars in the world. A country which boasts 200 million handguns stuffed under pillows, in underwear drawers and in glove compartments. And those are the legally owned handguns. Nobody knows how many illegal ones are out there, waiting to go off.

America has more than it's fair share of criminals, armed and otherwise. Thank God they're not too good at it.

What? You thought American crooks were shrewd and ruthless and competent? Hardly. Not the ones that make the papers anyway.

Such as Vernon Lewis, would-be bank holder-upper. Vernon entered a bank in Perth Amboy, New Jersey one afternoon recently and proceeded to conduct himself in classic bank heist fashion. He handed a note to the teller which read "I want $100s and $50s. You have 60 seconds. I have a gun."

A fine specimen, as stick-up notes go. Clear, succinct, no spelling mistakes. It got Vernon $850 in hundreds and fifties.

But not for long.

Good as the note was, Vernon's choice of writing paper left something to be desired. He wrote the note on the back of an old warrant for his arrest.

No points for brains, Vernon, but full marks for recycling.

Then there was the case of Michael Foster and his under-age pal who almost pulled the perfect theft of an electronic dart game from a tavern.

A rather...heavy electronic dart game. The light-fingered lads managed to hoist it up on to the back of their pick-up truck in the tavern parking lot, but when they pulled away, the truck sank up to the axles in the soft parking lot mud. Which is when Michael had his bright idea. He called Jim Paape and asked for a tow.

Ah, that would be Sheriff Jim Paape. In a triumph of understatement Sheriff Paape observed, "The boys didn't put a real lot of thought into this."

One could level the same charge at the thieves who knocked over two music stores in Kansas City a few weeks back, getting clean away with a truck-load of CD boxes worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

If they'd had any CD's inside. They didn't. The boxes were for display only.

How about one story in which the crooks don't trip over their own feet? I give you the sad tale of Mina Mullins, a young millionairess driving home alone one evening when she was suddenly rear-ended. Mina pulled over, got out of her car and found herself face to face with two men in balaclavas. Ah, yes. The classic bump and rob gambit, in which thieves 'accidentally' bump into a car, then rob the passengers when they pull over to check the damage. They took her purse and the $100,000 worth of jewelry she happened to be wearing. They also took her Mercedes. Later, a rueful Mina Mullins confessed, "I forgot all the safety rules when I got out of the car."

Ironically, that Mina Mullins of all people should forget the rules. After all the robbery happened in Surrey, England. Which is where Mina Mullins moved to get away from the rising crime rate back in her home town...Miami.

Snowmobiler gets cold shoulder after bumpy ride

Editor,

I've been snowmobiling for many years and this year the trails here are so bad they're not fit for a cow to walk on. The minute you leave Haliburton County, the trails are excellent. The trails from Haliburton to Minden and Minden to Gelert, and Haliburton to Whitney are virtually impossible to ride on. For my wife and I to go from Haliburton to Minden round trip (55 miles) took us four and a half hours because you can only do four to five miles an hour at the most.

Yesterday I spent an hour on the phone with the president of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, but it seems that if you don't agree with him, he hangs up. This is no way to deal with such complaints.

I was later told that the problem was a lack of snow, and yet in other places, the trails are much better and they have the same snow conditions.

Before the Winterfest activities on the weekend, I saw that the groomers were out in force. I hope that in future the same attention will be paid to the trails throughout the winter.

Rebound: Minden atom B goaltender Shane Walker made the initial save on this shot but the Wilberforce sniper put the rebound in.

Atom B Monarchs need two wins to advance to the championship round

by Jerry Grozelle

The Minden atom B Monarchs ran into some tough customers when they tangled with the Wilberforce Jets in the Tri-County round robin playoffs.

The Jets shaded the Minden squad 1-0 in Wilberforce on February 20.

The lone Wilberforce marker was scored early in the game, with Minden netminder Shane Walker sprawled on the ice. He kept them off the scoreboard for the remainder of the game.

The game was action packed throughout. But the Jets managed to hang on in spite of some good Minden scoring opportunities, to preserve the 1-0 win.

Game two against the Jets was in Minden last Thursday evening. The outcome was another one-goal win for Wilberforce.

The Monarchs ran into penalty trouble on home ice, giving the Jets the man advantage a few times, resulting in a 2-1 win.

Justin Bull was the lone Minden sharpshooter, assisted by Adam Bathe and Brad Gauley.

The Monarchs had a win and a loss in their first two games of the round robin playoffs.

The Monarchs started with a 4-1 win over the Bobcaygeon Cougars at the Minden arena on February 10.

The first period saw lots of end to end action but when the period was over neither team had put a goal on the scoreboard.

Early in the second Justin Bull broke the scoreless deadlock with an unassisted marker.

Minutes later Chris Boxell put the Monarchs in front 2-0 with David Burns and Jonathon Horsley assisting.

The Cougars started to pour on the pressure in the third, scoring to cut the Minden lead in half.

After the Bobcaygeon goal, Bull skated over to Shane Walker in the Minden net and told his teammate not to worry.

"That's OK Shane, I'm going to get one back," he is quoted as saying.

True to his word, Bull did just that a few seconds later, converting a set-up from Bathe for a 3-1 Minden advantage.

Less than two minutes later, Bull rounded out his first hat trick on an unassisted effort.

Meanwhile, Minden netminder Walker and the rest of the Monarch defence kept Bobcaygeon from doing any more damage, to preserve the 4-1 win.

A return match against the Cougars in Bobcaygeon on February 16 had a different outcome.

The Cougars, hungry for revenge, outskated and outplayed the Monarchs on the way to a 4-1 win.

Justin Bull was the solo Minden marksman, scoring on a set-up from Bathe and Gavin Simms.

Jeremy Davis played a strong game between the Minden pipes to keep the score respectable.

The Monarchs are set to do battle with Fenelon Falls in the final two games of the round robin series.

The two teams with the best records after the round robin will meet for the championship and the other two teams will play off for the consolation title.

Sled dog races highlight Norland Winter Carnival

Mother Nature didn't co-operate for the Norland Winter Carnival, slated for the weekend of February 19 and 20, providing spring-like conditions that cancelled Sunday's activities.

The highlight of the carnival was the sled dog races.

Sixteen competitors took part in the four-dog event and seven competed for top honours in the six-dog races.

Jamie McNab of Little Britain drove his team to a first place finish in the four-dog event with a time of 20:11.03 over the four mile course.

Tom Iliffe of Cameron placed second (21:13.71) and third went to Walter Grohman of Alliston (21:51.26).

Top dogs in the six-dog races were driven by Jeff Kirby of Cambray with a time of 21:01.54 for the six miles.

John Duncombe of Cambray was second (21:15.26) and Len Miller, from north of Toronto, was third (21:24.37).

The carnival featured games for the kids and sleigh rides for everyone.

The Celebrity Sled Dog Races that were scheduled for Sunday had to be cancelled because of the deteriorating snow conditions.

Payback: NHL oldtimers await final ruling on pensions

by Jerry Grozelle

Three local former National Hockey League players stand to benefit from the recent announcement that millions of dollars will have to be contributed to their pension fund by the NHL team franchise owners.

Although Walt McKechnie, Ron Stackhouse and Glen Sharpley are different ages, all three retired from the NHL at the end of the 1981-82 season.

"We all retired the same year," Sharpley said. "It's unbelievable."

Ron Stackhouse, who played for the California Seals, the Detroit Red Wings and the Pittsburgh Penguins, isn't counting any chickens yet.

"It will definitely have a positive effect, as long as they (the team owners) don't decide to pursue it higher in court and win," he said.

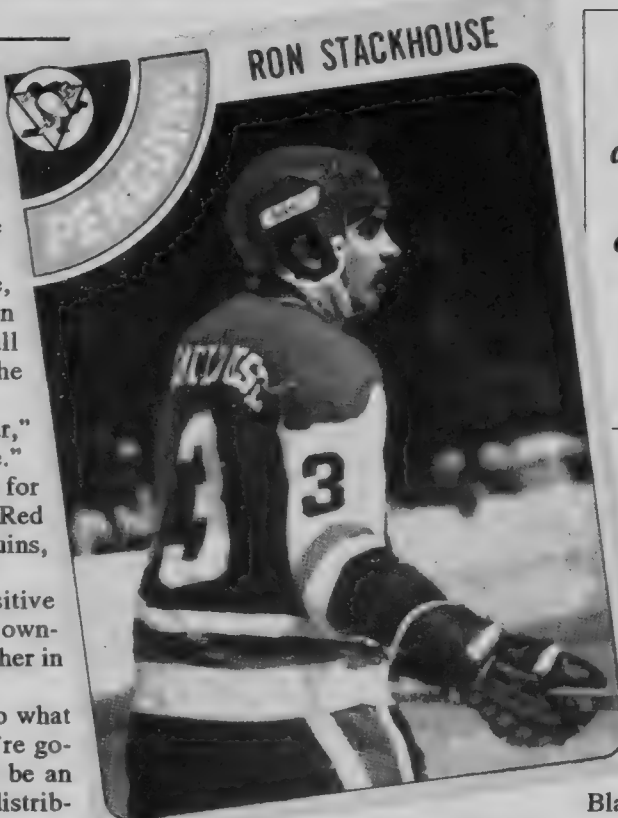

"It's really difficult to say to what extent. I have no idea how they're going to allocate it. I'm sure it'll be an accounting nightmare trying to distribute it equitably. But I'm sure that everybody who is involved will benefit to some degree."

Stackhouse is currently a teacher at the high school in Haliburton and the owner of an electronics business in the village.

Walt McKechnie, who played more than a thousand games with the NHL, his last years with the Red Wings, has adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

"It's hard to say (what the effect will be), there are all kinds of stories going around," he says. "It's going to help everybody. There's a lot of guys out there who are really hurting. Heck, I could use some extra money — especially when it's our money."

"I honestly don't know how it's going to affect me. Nobody knows."

"There's a lot of guys out there who are really hurting. Heck, I could use some extra money — especially when it's our money."

McKechnie added that it will probably be six months before they have any idea what to expect.

"They've been in court for the last two years and they were probably another 18 months prior to that putting it together to go to court," he said. "These things always take time."

McKechnie owns and operates McKeck's Place a restaurant and bar in Haliburton.

Sharpley played his NHL hockey with the Minnesota North Stars and the Chicago Black Hawks until an injury sidelined him after the 1981-82 season.

"Until the actuaries actually look at it we're not quite sure because every one of us will be affected individually 'cause we've each got a different number of years invested into the program."

"I'm under the understanding that it could double our pensions when we receive our pension. It may even go higher than that. It's good news though — very good news. And I'm obviously pleased about it."

Definitely it's going to help my retirement big time," he said. "I didn't make the money they're making today — none of us did. And for someone to say when you're 50, one portion of your retirement money will double, that's great," Sharpley said.

About 400 players are affected by the judgement.

Seven former NHL stars initiated a law suit, alleging that money had been taken from the NHL pension fund during the periods from 1947 to 1968 and from 1969 to 1982. Those seven players were: Andy Bathgate, Carl Brewer, Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull, Allan Stanley, Eddie Shack and Leo Reise.

The case was originally heard about a year and a half ago and at that time, Chief Justice Adams ruled in favour of the players. The NHL franchise owners appealed the decision and the case was heard again in September of last year by three judges of the Ontario Court of Appeal.

An announcement was made on February 17 that the decision had been upheld, virtually unchanged from the Adams decision.

Keith McCreary, president of the group that spearheaded the fundraising effort to finance the litigation (and former player with the Montreal Canadiens, Pittsburgh Penguins and Atlanta Flames) said that the settlement amounts to roughly $26-million,

Former hockey pros delighted with pension potential plus interest.

Negotiations will have to be completed to determine the interest that will apply to that amount.

"You might be able to take a mean average of eight or nine per cent, but that will be an issue with the NHL," McCreary said. "I'm sure there will be some strong negotiating to determine that factor."

The players had asked the court to determine whether the money involved actually belonged to the players who contributed to the pension fund or whether it belonged to the owners. If it belonged to the players, they wanted it put back into the pension fund, with interest.

The third part of the suit asked for reimbursement of the litigation costs.

The NHL has 60 days from February 17 to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court. The fact that the NHL has lost its first appeal is encouraging to the former players. There is hope that the owners will finally accept the settlement and get on with the interest negotiations.

"I'm optimistic that we'll get it done in 1994," McCreary said.

The decision will affect teams to varying degrees.

"I would guess that the six original clubs will feel the most impact," McCreary said. "The earlier expansion teams will certainly be coming to the party as well."

"We're delighted with the decision, of course. A lot of players have built what I call a great game and they are receiving little or nothing in pension benefits."

McCreary, who is now in the insurance business in Bolton, Ontario, says he has had numerous calls from former NHL players.

"These people are quite happy that they are at least going to see an increase in their pensions," he said.

Glen Sharpley played his NHL hockey with the Minnesota North Stars and the Chicago Black Hawks until an injury sidelined him after the 1981-82 season.

Winterfest an all-out hit for snowmobile enthusiasts

by Brian Watts,
President, H.C.S.A

In our last update in January, we were getting ready for Winterfest '94. Well it's been and gone and what a weekend. Starting with the huge bonfire, the hot dogs, hot chocolate and finally the torch-light parade.

I personally took part in this event and, thanks to Ken Evans and his crew, it was a great display for everyone to see and a lot of fun to be a part of. Thanks Ken.

Saturday was full of fun and very memorable events. There was the snowmobile obstacle course where the driver is blindfolded and the passenger shouts out the direction to steer so as not to hit anything.

The younger kids had a ball driving the Kitty Kats around a track. This tended to be dangerous for Joan Stethem and Red Reynolds as they tried to control all the Mario's on the track.

The Poker Run was a huge success with Larry France riding off with the first prize of $1,000.

Thanks to all the H.C.S.A. directors for their time and involvement in this event and all the on-ice events pertaining to snowmobiling.

Much thanks goes out to Pat Kennedy, Norm Parrott, Scott Doan, Mike Bayson, Nathan Petrini, and Ken Evans for their time in setting up the radar course and compound and for making this event the overwhelming success it was. Thanks guys.

Saturday night finished in grand style with a dance at the Pinestone and another at the Legion, both huge successes.

Sunday was capped off by the run-offs at the radar compound and finally the clean up.

The H.C.S.A. would like to thank Les Feerro, his wife Carol, and everyone from the BIA for a truly great weekend. It is this spirit of cooperation that will allow this to be a bigger and better annual event for Haliburton.

The Club is having another drivers' course at Rip's Sleepy Hollow on March 5, so if you have anyone over the age of 12 and ready for a snowmobile licence, contact Mike Burke at 754-2637 or Larry Hutchinson at 754-4229. Anyone who is willing to volunteer some time, grooming, signing, etc. please call me at 457-9620.

Until the next update, see you on the trails. Ride safe, ride sober.

Real Change.

Chris Hodgson.

Over the last ten years, Ontario has lost too much. Once, we were Canada's economic powerhouse — a safe and prosperous place to live. But now, our quality of life is being jeopardized by governments motivated by old ideologies and misguided principles.

It's not too late to recover. But to get Ontario back on track, we need real change. And we need it now!

Chris Hodgson wants to make that change happen. Grounded in the values of Victoria-Haliburton where he was born and where he is now raising his young family, Chris understands what the people of our area want from government. He believes you deserve:

- A common-sense approach to job creation
- A dedication to excellence in education
- A commitment to protecting health care
- A commitment to cutting red-tape and waste in government
- A commitment to lower taxes
- A safe community for our families

Chris Hodgson believes in Ontario and its future. But he knows that our quality of life can only be improved if government gets the message — we need real change.

Home Hardware, Sid Stamp Fuels tied at two apiece

Three weeks left in playoffs

by Jerry Grozelle

Sid Stamp Fuels and Home Hardware remain undefeated after two weeks of Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League round robin playoffs.

Kountry Double D and Westside Jug City have a win and a loss each while Hartwick Construction and The Times are winless in two games.

KDD 5, WESTSIDE 1

The second week of playoffs got started February 21 with KDD downing Westside 5-1 in the 8:00 p.m. game.

Westside drew first blood with Tom Haley scoring, from Mike Keany and Eldon Bull.

KDD replied with two before the first period ended to take over the lead.

Scott Danilko scored the tying goal, from Doug Aldworth and John Fedeski. Corey Walker notched the go-ahead marker with the assistance of Ivan Ingram and Jeff Howe.

KDD finished Westside off with three unanswered goals in the second half.

Ingram netted two more to round out his hat trick. He added another assist as well, for a five-point night. Howe and Jason Stamp each picked up two assists in the second half.

STAMP 11, TIMES 2

Sid Stamp Fuels romped to an 11-2 victory over The Times in the night's middle game.

By the end of the first period, the Stamp crew had built up a 6-1 lead.

Craig Crowe scored the first two goals for Stamp.

Lawrence Loughheed replied for The Times, from Doug Schell and Andy Campbell.

Gary Harrison, Gord Wood, Glen Hall and Ben Manuge added one each to the Stamp score before the first period was over.

The Times got the first goal of the second frame, with Campbell doing the honours, from Clark Craig and Paul Walker. But, that was the end of the scoring for The Times.

Crowe (with his third and fourth of the game) and Wood (with his second and third) notched two each for the Stamp team and Charlie Teljeur scored a single.

Alec Little picked up four assists for the winners. Teljeur and Crowe had three helpers apiece and two assists each went to Hall, Harrison, Craig Philip, Bill Hogg, Wood and Manuge.

HOME 4, HARTWICK 0

The 10:00 p.m. game saw Home Hardware blank Hartwick Construction 4-0. Paul Humber recorded the shutout between the Home pipes.

Boomer Stamp scored the only goal of the first period, from Barry Shaw and Richie Mills. That turned out to be the game winner.

Doug Allison, Dave Dollo and Mills each netted one in the second half. Stamp notched two assists with single helpers going to Barry Shaw, Allison, Trini Elias and Tom Miscio.

Three weeks of round robin playoffs remain. At the end of this round, each team will have played the rest once. The two teams with the best records in the round robin series will meet for the league championship.

The championship will be decided with a best-of-three playoff series.

Gimme room: The Times goalie Bob Crowe saw plenty of action in Monday's game against Sid Stamp Fuels. The Stamp crew romped to an 11-2 victory in the second week of round robin playoff action. Round three of the playoffs gets under way with three games tonight, starting at 8:00 p.m.

Close call: The puck bounces harmlessly over the net during the championship game of the Rocky McElwain Memorial Tournament.

Lindsay team captures tournament top honours

Kawartha Floorcoverings of the Lindsay Men's Industrial Hockey League took top honours in the 16-team Rocky McElwain Memorial Hockey Tournament at the Minden arena on February 11, 12 and 13.

The Lindsay team blanked Hepcoe of Pickering 4-0 in the A championship game.

Paul Young scored a hat trick for Lindsay in the final to grab tournament MVP honours.

The B division championship was won by Street Auto Body of Toronto with a 6-2 victory over the Bobcaygeon Blades.

This tournament has been a regular event in Minden for many years. It was renamed last year in honour of Rocky McElwain, who was killed in an auto accident about three and a half years ago.

McElwain grew up in this area and played his minor hockey in Minden. He was a member of a juvenile team that brought the all-Ontario championship to Minden.

Bantam B Monarch snipers pot four unassisted goals to beat Wilberforce Individual efforts were the rule in the Minden Monarchs bantam B hockey team's win over Wilberforce in Tri-County playoff action on February 20.

The Monarchs scored four unassisted goals on the way to a 4-2 win over their Wilberforce rivals.

Ian Clements scored the first goal of the game for Minden. It was the only marker of the first period.

Adam Carpenter made it 2-0 midway through the middle frame before Wilberforce got on the scoreboard.

Ricky Huffman's goal for Wilberforce cut the Minden lead in half.

The home squad pulled back to even terms with a goal by Joe Carey midway through the third period.

But Matthew Hamilton put Minden back in front with 4:27 left in the frame and a minute and a half later Jason Kasepчук added one for good measure.

Woodville bantams take 2-1 series lead

by Jerry Grozelle

Playing well enough to win doesn't always guarantee victory. The Minden bantam A Monarchs had that fact demonstrated last Tuesday night in Woodville.

Minden played well in the second contest of the best-of-five playoffs in Woodville. But the home team seemed to get the bounces, edging Minden 5-3.

Minden's Dave Raback opened the scoring with 5:07 left in the first period. Curtis Fielding assisted.

Before the frame was over, Woodville had rebounded to take over the lead at 2-1. The home team's second goal was scored with eight seconds showing on the clock before the end of the frame.

Ben Ripley got the Monarchs back on even terms at the 5:39 mark of the middle period. Dan Howell and Rob Camelon drew assists on that one.

A pair of quick goals midway through the frame put Woodville back in front by a 4-2 margin.

With 29 seconds left in the second, Raback scored his second of the game and the Monarchs were back to within striking distance.

Just 22 seconds showed on the clock in the third period when Woodville scored to put the game out of reach.

That Woodville win left the Monarchs in a must-win situation when they played host to Woodville Thursday. A loss would have meant elimination.

The local boys were up to the task, showing their mettle under pressure. They rebounded to cut Woodville's series lead in half with a hard fought 2-1 win at home.

Jeff Wray notched the first goal of the game early in the opening frame on a setup from Dennis Woods.

That 1-0 lead held into the second period when Woodville tied it up with 6:34 left.

Wray scored the deciding goal at the 6:04 mark of the third and Minden held on for the win. Marty Dettman and Woods combined to set up the game-winner.

The Monarchs were hoping to carry their momentum into Friday's game in Woodville. A win there would force a fifth and deciding game Saturday on home ice.

Sports fans can enjoy the action in comfort at the Minden arena, thanks to a new set of bleachers that was built and donated by Dave Howell. The new bleachers were set in place last week right in front of the glass in the arena's lobby. Many fans took advantage of the new seating to watch some of the hockey playoff action now underway in Minden.

Snowmobilers are reminded of the rules

Senior constable Dave Fletcher of the Coboconk OPP offers some advice for snowmobilers. Reacting to recent complaints about snowmobilers, he feels that some clarification of the regulations governing the use of snowmobiles on highways is in order.

Snowmobiles can be driven on highways, which includes village streets, only if the operator is 16 years of age or over and holds a valid driver's licence or motorized snow vehicle operator's licence.

The speed limits for snowmobiles are different than those for automobiles. Snowmobiles are only allowed to travel at 20 kilometres per hour where the speed limit for cars is 50 km/h or less.

Fifty km/h is the speed limit for snowmobiles on trails or where the auto speed limits are more than 50 km/h.

All snowmobilers must carry with them proof of insurance, ownership for the machine and an operator's licence. In addition, all snowmobilers are required to wear an approved helmet.

Some municipalities have by-laws prohibiting the use of snowmobiles on sidewalks. It may also be a violation of the criminal code if any pedestrians are endangered.

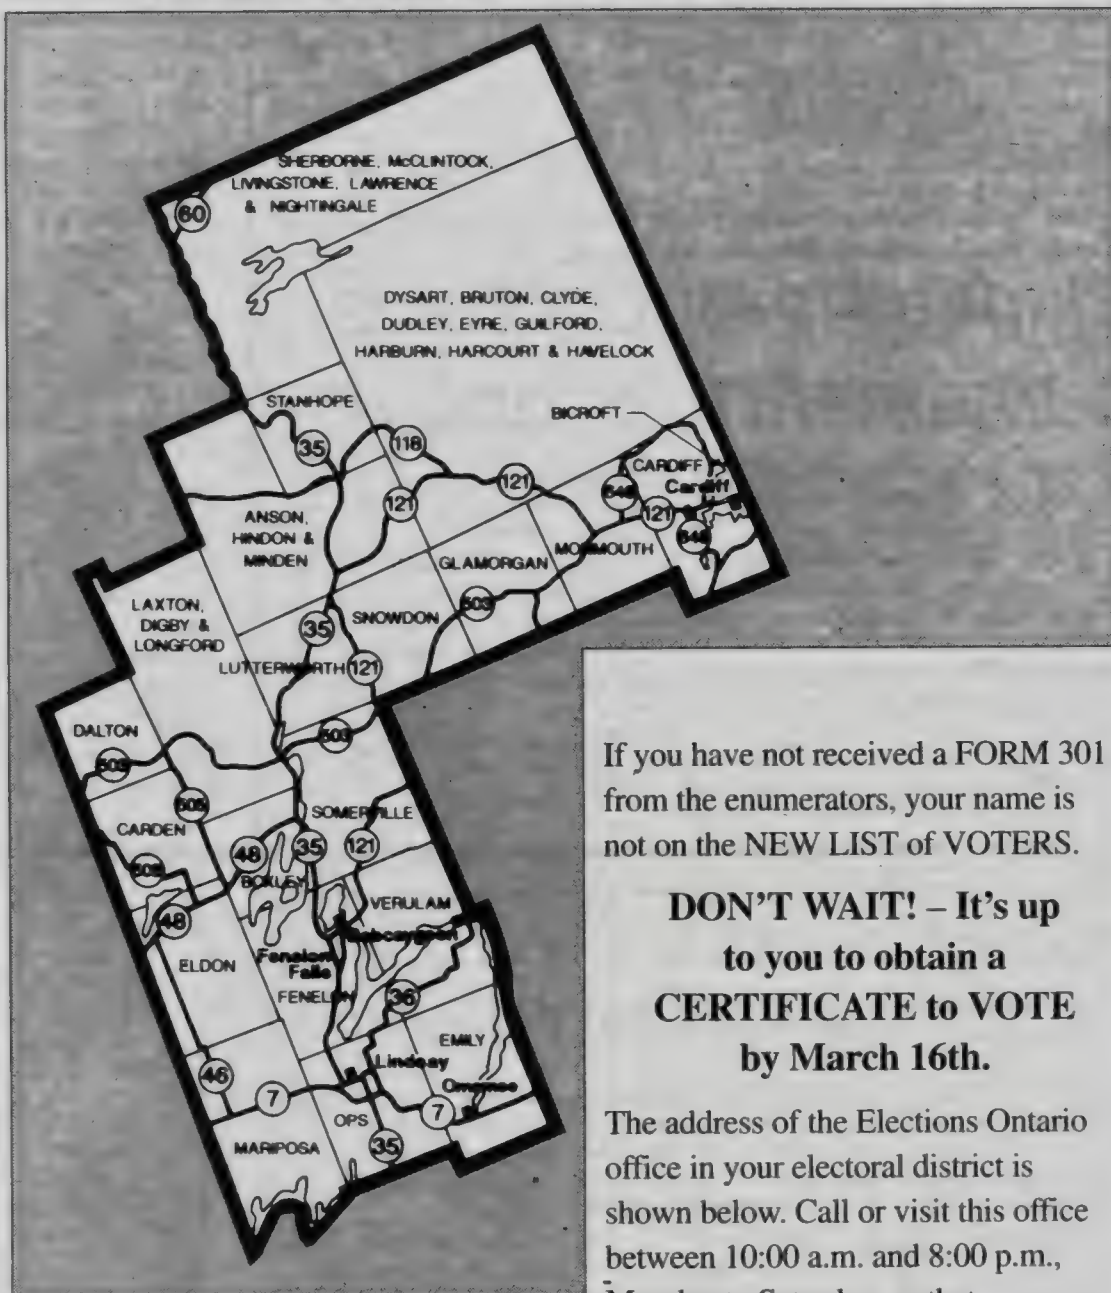

Snowmobilers are prohibited from using private property without written permission from the landowner.

Ski patrollers earn stripes at Sir Sam's

The hills at Sir Sam's Ski area were littered with victims screaming in pain from broken legs and severely gashed hands Saturday. In fact 16 teenagers, all with identical injuries, were found at various locations on the hill.

Fortunately for the injured, the area was swarming with Canadian Ski Patrol members from across the province.

The "victims" and the 16 teams were taking part in the annual Ski Patrol first aid competition and evaluation. The competition brings together teams from nine zones across the province, representing some 2400 Ski Patrollers. The Kawartha and Frontenac Ski Patrol Zones co-sponsored the competition. Both groups are marking their twentieth anniversary this season.

According to Bill Esdale, president of the Ontario division, the purpose of the exercise was to assess the consistency of Ski Patrol training across the province. "By presenting each of the 16 teams with an identical emergency situation, the evaluators will not only be able to grade each team's skill level, but also to identify any weakness which may exist in the training regimen across the province," Esdale commented. "From events like this, we can modify the training program, if needed," he added.

The teams were chosen in each of the nine zones through local competitions at the province's 55 ski resorts. Several zones sent two teams, representing cross-country and alpine skiing. The host ski area is also allowed to include a team in the competition. The Sir Sam's team included Don Stephenson, Wilf Van Lieshout and Ted O'Connell.

The "victims", all skiers, were volunteers from HHSS, many associated with the school's drama club. The students were given a briefing prior to taking up their positions on the hills.

According to the scenario, the skiers had lost control and crashed into a tree. The collision resulted in a deep gash across the palm of one hand and a broken femur (thigh bone). To complicate the rescue, the victims were told they were to lose consciousness just as they were being loaded into the evacuation toboggan.

While Hilda Weber, right, of Kitchener makes notes on her clip board, members of a Nordic Ski Patrol team prepare to place a splint on a "victim's" broken leg. Matt Heffer of Minden played the part of the errant skier in this scenario, set up at Sir Sam's Ski area Saturday to test the rescue skills of patrollers from across the province.

The students were coached on how an injured individual in that situation would act, and told how to answer questions the rescuers were expected to ask. To provide a touch of reality to the scene, a casualty simulation crew, using theatre make-up, added a realistic-looking gash to each victim's hand. Facial make-up created the appearance that the victims had gone into shock.

The students were then taken to their accident scenes and, under the watchful eye of judges, a Ski Patrol team was brought in to deal with the situation. The patrollers were expected to secure the accident scene, assess the victim's condition, comfort and reassure the injured party, provide first aid and then load and transport the victim to the ambulance waiting at the base of the hill.

Esdale pointed out that the transportation factor is the major difference between individuals trained in first aid and Ski Patrol personnel. "Both groups receive the same basic first aid training," he commented, "but Ski Patrollers are also responsible for transporting the victim off the ski hill or out of the bush." It was pointed out that Ski Patrollers are often required to work under unusual conditions—the weather can be harsh, the terrain difficult and the accident scene is usually far from immediate assistance.

According to Bill Kennedy, the vice president in charge of Ski Patrol training in Ontario, the competition went extremely well. "There were a few glitches," Kennedy commented at the end of the day, "but that is what we're here for...to learn from our mistakes."

While it was a learning exercise, it was also a competition. After the judges had conferred, recognition was presented to the best over-all team, the best first aid team, and the best teams in both the Alpine and Nordic sections.

TVOntario

Show support for TVO to the candidates

by Susan Wilson

The writ has been dropped and the candidates are on the starting blocks. Between now and March 17, when we go to the polls, Chris Hodgson of the PCs, Sharon McCrae of the Liberals, and Art Field of the NDP will be explaining their positions and making their promises.

So now is the time to begin making our position known about TVOntario. And what better place to start than the all-candidates meeting coming up at Hyland Crest on Monday, March 14, at 7:30 p.m.

The candidates have all received a letter explaining what we're up to and asking for their support. So when I ask them to state their positions publicly, it won't be any surprise. And the more people who attend the meeting to show their support, the more effectively the point will be made. Will you come?

The by-election is just the first step, though. After that, we'll be following up with the successful candidate, approaching the local councils to pass resolutions of support, talking to the school board and the educators and the students and their parents about their needs, approaching the lake associations at their annual meetings this summer, making TVOntario visible at a number of events in the months ahead, and finally asking people to write letters to Queen's Park.

The letters are critical, because when it comes time for the politicians to bite the bullet and make the decision, the final question is always "How many letters are in the file?" In other words, does anybody care?

You bet we do! TVO offers first-rate commercial-free programming, for all ages of a kind we can't get anywhere else. (That's why they call it "Television That Matters.") And besides, 80 per cent of its budget comes from the province. We're already paying for it, whether we can get it or not.

In the meantime, we'll keep those petitions circulating because the number of names we collect is another indication of whether anybody cares. If you'd like to have one to pass around yourself or want to know where you can go to sign up, please give me a call.

SPACE JUNK

The system failure on January 20th that turned Telesat's Anik E2 satellite into 300 million dollars worth of space junk knocked TVOntario and a lot of other stations off the tube. TVOntario technicians spent the next couple of weeks racing around the province realigning transmitters to receive the signal from Anik E1. But before that, they had to realign TVOntario's roof dish so they could send the signal to Anik E1. And before they could do that, they had to thaw the roof dish out!

Roads superintendent does super job in trying conditions, says council

Somerville Roads Superintendent Wib Rettie was on the receiving end of some accolades following the recent ice and snow storms.

Councillor Gord Carr mentioned that he had received a phone call from a Somerville resident who praised the Roads Department for its efforts in keeping the roads passable.

Reeve John Huke added that he had received several calls with the same theme.

"It's kind of nice to get some compliments instead of complaints," Huke said.

DISAPPEARING SIGNS

The case of the disappearing signs is causing concern among members of Somerville council. It seems persons unknown have taken to stealing road signs of all descriptions in Somerville. But the problem isn't unique to the township. "Everyone's losing road signs left, right and centre," said reeve Huke. "They're even taking stop signs."

Huke asked if there was any way to weld the bolts so the signs couldn't be removed so easily.

Councillor Clayton Cameron said it would be difficult since the posts have to be planted before the signs are bolted on. He pointed out that it wouldn't be possible to weld the bolts in place before the sign is installed.

STREAMLINING

In an effort to save some auditing costs, Somerville Township will be administering its Parks, Burnt River- Somerville Community Centre and Kinmount Community Centre accounts, through the general accounts.

The change will save the fees that are normally charged to audit these accounts separately.

The parks and community centre administration will remain the same, with the exception that their accounts will be paid through the general accounts of the township.

VCBE OBJECTS

The Victoria County Board of Education has voiced its objection to its bill for sewer services at Ridgewood Public School in Coboconk.

Initially, a flat rate was proposed. But numerous complaints were received from people whose businesses and residences were connected later than others. They said it was unfair that they should pay the same rate as those who had been on the system longer.

So, the councils involved decided to pro-rate each service from the time it was connected.

The bill for Ridgewood from the time it was connected amounted to $5,000. VCBE officials contend that this user charge is higher than it should be for the amount of sewage flow the school generates.

Although the bill has been paid, the school board made it clear that a rebate is expected following a flow rate study.

Joe Kelly, President of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 441 in Kinmount (left) and Second Vice-President Eileen Sienko were on hand at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind Telethon at Cable 10 in Lindsay on February 6 to donate a cheque for $500. Receiving the cheque on behalf of the CNIB is Helen Scott of Bobcaygeon.

Natural Resources and You

We Want Your Input

Have you ever wondered how decisions get made about Ontario's Crown lands and natural resources?

Are you interested in how areas of Crown land are designated for forestry, provincial parks and other uses?

Did you know that you can influence these decisions?

Howard Hampton, Ontario's Minister of Natural Resources, wants to improve the way planning decisions are made about the use and management of Crown land and natural resources.

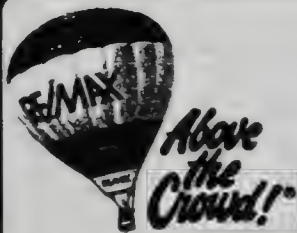

If you are interested in shaping decisions about Ontario's natural resources, then you will want to read the MNR discussion paper Our Shared Resources: Planning Together for the Future.

For a copy of the discussion paper, please contact your local MNR office, or write to:

Program examines Ontario's energy crisis

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to help get access to the TVO signal or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009.

of planning beforehand. This time, over half the LRPT sites were back in operation within a week and the whole job was done in a fortnight.

If there's an upside to the whole thing from TVOntario's point of view, it's that Anik E1 has a bigger "footprint" than Anik E2. That means that both TVO and La Chaine are now available on national beams and can be seen in other parts of the country.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:

This week, TVO presents a series of special programs about energy in Ontario. It begins tonight at 8:00 p.m. with The Power to Change. Ontario was once one of the most successful and energy-intensive economies in the world. Now we're falling behind. Why? How serious is the energy problem? What does the future hold for Ontario Hydro? What's possible in Ontario? What are other countries doing that we should be emulating? This TVO-produced documentary, narrated by Steve Paikin, will be rebroadcast on Thursday, March 3, at 7:00 p.m.

The second part of the series is an Interactive Forum to be broadcast on Thursday, March 3, at 8:00 p.m. Steve Paikin's guests will include Maurice Strong of Ontario Hydro, Jayson Myers of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Louise Comeau of the Sierra Club of Canada, Tayce Wakefield of General Motors, and Louise Hislop of the School of Business at Carleton University. They will discuss the issues raised in the documentary. The studio audience will have an opportunity to register its response electronically as the discussion unfolds and viewers will be polled with a 1-900 number.

At 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday (March 1, 2, and 4), the three-part series entitled The Energy Alternative will look at alternative means of harnessing and producing energy, from wind farms in California to solar cookers in Gujarat, India.

Throughout the week, viewers will take a hard look at how we develop, manage, and use energy in this province and understand how Ontario fits into the world energy picture.

Legion LA celebrates fifth anniversary

by Shirley Kirk

On Saturday, February 19, the Ladies Auxiliary to Branch 636 celebrated our 5th year of formation and honoured our 20 Charter Members.

After an hour of comradeship, members and guests were served a delicious meal prepared by our Branch members.

Past-President Laurey Anne Roodenburg began our evening by introducing our guests: Ladies' Auxiliary Provincial President Phyllis Montemiglio, Zone Commander Margaret McLean, Branch President Lois Adamson, Branch Zone Commander Sally Bonner, and Anson, Hindon, and Minden Reeve Bern Berry.

President Sheila Burke presented our Charter Members with their 5 year pin and announced positions held during their 5 years in the Auxiliary. Recipients were: Comrades Anne Barker, Ethel Baker, Leeanna Bathe, Sheila Burke, Terry Campbell, Georgina Deeks, Annie Dunsford, Lisa Foster, Bernice Gillies, Dorothy Graham, Muriel Harrington, Wendy Jacobs, Gloria Lemieux, Molly McKenzie, Irene Moore, Laurey Anne Roodenburg, and Joyce Wiltshire. Shirley Kirk (21 years of continuous service) received a gift in lieu of the 5 year pin and appreciation as Charter President. Two of our Charter Members, Comrades Lois Adamson and Gladys Kellett Wruth, no longer belong to our Auxiliary but are still very active in volunteering in any way they can.

Of course tears flowed freely from some of our guest speakers and members as words of thank-you were expressed for the many volunteered hours of hard work put in by all 64 ladies, and the generous donations made to our Branch for these efforts.

President Sheila Burke presented Branch President Lois Adamson with a cheque from our Auxiliary for $5000, bringing our 5-year monetary total to $32,000.

The door prize of a glass painted lamp from Dreams Come True was won by Comrade Beverly Johnson.

We would like to thank the following Comrades for their efforts to make our anniversary evening a special one: Comrades Nancy Adamson for preparing the desserts, Dorothy Ash, Carolyn and Harris Steele, Sharon and Jack Sykes, Pat and Marg O'Shaughnessy, Charlie and Liz McDonald for preparing and serving dinner, Larry McKenzie and Pat McMurter for picture taking, Bill Bonner for setting up the sound system and Little Meghan Roodenburg for helping with the decorations.

The Ladies Auxiliary would like to thank the local merchants for their many donations during our 5 years and to the Times newspaper for announcing our events and special occasions.

Branch prepares for public speaking contest

by Comrade Dave McAdam

Our Legion, Branch 636, is pleased and honoured to congratulate our Ladies Auxiliary on the occasion of their 5th anniversary.

We were pleased to host a dinner and celebration for them on Saturday, February 19. A number of Legion and Auxiliary dignitaries were in attendance. They were also honoured to have their Provincial President, Phyllis Montemiglio, attend as guest speaker. It not only made the members of our Auxiliary, but Branch members in attendance, proud when Comrade Phyllis informed the gathering that when she is speaking to other Legion groups, she frequently refers the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 636 as a success story, when it comes to the organizing and operation of an Auxiliary. Well done ladies!

When this column goes to press, the Branch Curling Fun Day will be history. If this one follows the format of the Curling Fun Days of the past, it is certain all in attendance will have enjoyed themselves.

March has a number of events scheduled. Each Saturday afternoon, Comrade Ross will be keeping the lounge lively with his Steak Draws. In addition, socially, the Ways and Means Committee has planned a Scottish Pub Night for Saturday, March 2 at 6:30 p.m. A dinner of Scottish meat pies and mushy peas and choice of potatoes will be prepared by Comrade Charlie McDonald. Games and dancing to follow. This should be enjoyable, so we suggest you pick your tickets up at the bar as soon as possible so as not to be disappointed.

Legion Ladies Auxiliary

a success story, says Provincial President Phyllis
Montemiglio

Service Clubs

On Wednesday, March 16 at 7:30 p.m., Comrade Cub Coneybear is once again hosting another Trivia Evening. Anyone who has not been to one of these evenings really should go. It is only $2 and we promise you lots of laughs. You won't be alone if you can't answer all of the questions, as most of us find ourselves in this situation. This only adds to the fun.

A St. Patrick's dinner and dance is being planned for March 19 at 6 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at the bar.

Members coming to the Legion Branch are requested to regularly check the bulletin boards. One item of importance is the Zone F-4 Spring Convention, scheduled for March 6 at 1:30 p.m. at the Cannington Legion. This is a good time for members seeking to learn more about Legion Branches or aspiring to executive positions in the Branch to gain first hand knowledge. All members are welcome to attend the Zone Conventions.

On March 8, students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School will be competing in the Legion Public Speaking Contest. This will be in the Minden Branch lounge and will start at 7:30 p.m. We can tell you this can be a most entertaining evening. The only ones with the most difficult jobs are the judges. Why not plan to attend and support these talented students from our community.

We are sad to report the passing of Comrade Horry Baker whose Comradeship we have enjoyed, not only in the Legion, but in our community. He will be missed, but will be remembered. We wish to extend our sympathy to Anne and the Baker family.

We would like to thank Comrades Anthony and Ruth Samarillo for the donation of a November 11, 1918 edition of the Daily Mail and Empire newspaper. It is presently being preserved and mounted and will be displayed in the Branch in the near future.

Tape savers benefit hockey

The Tape Saver program at Dollo's IGA has provided a major boost to the Minden Minor Hockey Association. Over the past few months, shoppers at the local IGA have been asked to drop their cash register tapes into a collection box at the store. For each $300 in tapes received Dollo's offered to donate $1 to the local hockey organization. The program ended last week and the tally was carried out with the result that the Minor Hockey Association is now $1588.33 richer. Fund raising chairman Sandy Cole accepted the donation from store owner Dave Dollo. Sandy said the funds will be used to ensure that each player receives a team photo this year.

Welcome to the cod-fish bawl

In high school in the '50', we learned that the oceans were a vast reservoir of protein that could feed all people on Earth.

Perhaps it was possible back then when there were half as many people to feed, but today, we are fishing at a rate and volume that can't be sustained.

Last week at Dalhousie University, I was shocked by oceanographer Bob Fournier's summary of the decline of the Atlantic cod.

For almost 500 years, cod have been the basis of life and culture on the east coast. In 1800, fishermen took an estimated 100,000 tons that didn't make a dent on the fish. The yearly catch rose in this century to 400,000 tons by 1950. With huge factory ships to feed an insatiable demand, the annual catch peaked at a million tons in the 1960s and then began to slide.

Today, even with a moratorium on most of the Atlantic cod fishery, stocks are still plummeting towards extinction. Tens of thousands of jobs have already been lost and 1300 communities are being torn apart by an ecological apocalypse.

Sadly, the story of Atlantic cod is neither unique nor rare. As I write, the International Joint Commission on the Great Lakes has released a terrifying report on the effects of polluted water on human health, behaviour, and fertility. And worldwide, forests, topsoil, watersheds, wetlands, and prai-

Reflections

by David Suzuki

ries are being devastated.

There are plenty of scapegoats, in Halifax, whales, seals, cold water, environmentalists, overfishing, and poor management were blamed.

But the root cause is a mindset that is monoculturing the globe and is built into our institutions of economics, science, and politics.

The global economy into which we are being driven by our business and political leaders does not factor in long-term sustainability of communities, human and non-human.

Instead, in the name of "efficiency" and "competitiveness", the level of the playing field is set by quantity, speed, price, and profit.

To compete globally, tens of thousands of inshore fishermen have been displaced by a few hundred workers on giant offshore trawlers.

Conventional economics has little value for the sustainability of renewable resources because money is fluid and moves easily from resource to resource across political borders.

That's why the great rain forests of Brazil, Sarawak, and B.C. are being trashed with little regard for the future.

The commercial extinction of Atlantic cod was an inevitable result of current economic "wisdom".

Science, too, can be destructive when its practitioners claim to be able to "manage resources".

Paradoxically, the explosive growth in our technological prowess has not been matched by our understanding of the makeup and interactions of the parts of the living world.

We are air-breathing land mammals and water is not our natural habitat. So we have only fragmentary glimpses into the habitats that cover 71 percent of the Earth; a knowledge base that is too limited to enable us to manage populations of wild organisms.

Scientists are often co-opted by their political masters. Those working for government see their efforts massaged by bureaucrats to serve political agendas.

I am told scientific data and recommendations are often unrecognizable by the time they are made public. And when scientists suggest politically undesirable strategies, they are muzzled. Even university scientists protected by tenure, feel the pressure of political priorities.

They depend on research funds to do their work, but grants are not conferred solely on the basis of quality. They are spread around to satisfy political needs and government priorities.

So, scientists who might be studying cod, for example, are unlikely to jeopardize their support by openly criticizing government policy.

Politicians are excoriated for the mismanagement of cod stocks. They seem fatally attracted to projects that are big, fast, and splashy. Ministers are seldom around long enough to be held accountable for any deleterious consequences found later.

In 1977, when the federal government banned foreign ships within a 200-mile zone, it was not to conserve the resources. Instead, Canadian companies were subsidized to build boats and processing plants to reap a bonanza. Politicians were able to ignore the warnings that cod were being overfished and their habitat damaged until it was too late.

Today, no one knows whether the fish will come back. All we can control is human predation and impact so we have to pull back and hope for the recuperative power of nature.

But we mustn't perpetuate current economic, scientific, and political notions that are undercutting sustainable futures by extinguishing renewable resources, wiping out jobs and destabilizing communities.

When cod, forests, water and soil flourish, so too will human beings. Then perhaps high school students will again be taught about the vast riches of the oceans.

Province welcomes lumber trade deal

The Ontario government has welcomed a trade decision which stated that the U.S. government's International Trade Commission (ITC) has not made a supportable case that exports of Canadian softwood lumber injure the U.S. softwood lumber industry.

"This finding supports our position that exports of Ontario softwood lumber to the United States are not subsidized and do not cause any harm to forest companies in that country," said Natural Resources Minister Howard Hampton.

In making its decision, the bi-national panel, set up under the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement, (FTA), again, rejected a finding by the U.S. government's ITC that Canadian softwood lumber exports cause injury to the U.S. softwood industry.

The panel remanded the finding back to the ITC with directions that it provide a full analysis and explanation of the data and methods used in their earlier finding.

This was the second time the panel rejected the ITC's submission on this matter.

"This has been a lengthy process to prove what we've been saying all along, that allegations in the U.S. about subsidies are not supported by facts," Hampton said.

Potters head to Sir Sandford to share secrets
... and a warm studio

Below: Mary Wallace centres the mound of clay that will soon be a large bowl. Mary, who is best known as a painter, plans to use the pottery as a sort of canvas for unique paintings. Other potters taking this course include Rikki Woods, Lisa Malott and Margery Cartwright.

It's back to school for Haliburton County's outstanding potters. Through a special course offered at the Sir Sandford Fleming College campus in Haliburton, the area's professional potters are getting in some practice, trading secrets and enjoying the comfort of a heated studio. Although all of the students have studios of their own, they're a bit chilly this year because of the unusually cold weather. The potters are also finding they enjoy the social aspect of this course. In addition to this advanced course, the college offers beginner and intermediate courses in pottery, as well as dozens of other general interest programs.

Tumble in and join the fun

Do the kids have a lot of energy they've been storing up over the winter? Join us at the Haliburton Resource Centre the first week in March for Rumpus Week!

The climbers, slides, balance beams, and mats will all be set out to encourage children to exercise their gross motor skills. Tumble on in and join us!

Or perhaps learning about the wind stirs an interest in you or the children you care for...then come make kites and blow bubble pictures with us at our Minden Resource Centre.

There are an incredible number of wonderful activities planned for March at both of CHACE's Resource Centres for our caregivers and parents!

Check out the centres' calendars and plan to attend the events that appeal to you the most. And remember, CHACE Resource Centres are free to all families and caregivers.

tion, the kids enrolled at our Day Care recruit adults who will sponsor them financially for every hop their little feet can manage.

Think of the good you'll do when you say yes when asked to sponsor one of our kids! Call Wendy at the Day Care (286-4074) if you'd like more information on this event or to inquire about enrolling your child in our after-school programs over March Break.

Parents and providers with CHACE's Private Home Day Care program have been very active lately participating in the current legislative reform process. It is very likely that the home child care system, both licensed and informal, will take on a very different shape from what currently exists. Don't miss your opportunity to have input into these changes. For more information, please call CHACE's Head Office at 457-2989 and ask for Sue Valm.

In closing, I'd like to extend a special thank-you to the local businesses and individuals that contributed to the costs of the programming that happened at CHACE's Resource Centre over the months of January and February: McKeck's Place, Ray Selbie, Financial Concept Group, Family Medical Centre, and Gord and Donna Monk. The exciting programming we offer would not be possible without their efforts!

Peterborough students brave the cold in Minden

Over forty students from St. Peter's Secondary School in Peterborough ventured out into the winter conditions to sleep in the snow this Thursday and Friday, February 24 and 25.

Winter camping, is a new winter training program for the Outdoors Club, through which students learn the skills of sleeping in the snow in extreme temperatures.

This year our students spent two days in the Minden area to learn new skills for surviving outside in winter conditions. The program involves two days of training where they are exposed to snowshoeing, winter camping and winter survival. The culmination of their training is to spend two full days and one night "out in the cold". The day started with preparing for the camp-out, refreshing their skills and getting packed. Then off they went to prepare a pile of snow which would be home for 18 hours. Dinner was prepared in the woods, with a campfire that evening before early bed.

The preparation of a 'quinsy hut' begins with the collection of a snow pile six feet high and ten feet across. After curing, the students clean out an entrance and a larger room inside. This will be their bedroom for the night. The temperature stays about 0 degrees Celsius, but the students must be dressed properly and have warm sleeping bags. The floor is covered with tarps and sleeping pads to ensure the moisture stays in the ground and not in the sleeping bag. A candle will assist in raising the heat, making it more comfortable.

"Students are really keen about the winter camping," Bob Allen, Co-ordinator of the Winter Skills Program at Sir Sandford Fleming College claims. "It is something most of them have never done; however, when it is over they are sure proud of their success."

Exotic bird visits Hyland Crest

Saturday Fran Hart came in with two Cockatoos. One was six years old and it rode around on several remote control cars. It was many different colours and talked a bit. The other one was seven years old and talked a lot. It had a yellow head and a lovely green body with some other colours.

Sunday Estella Burch came to read to us in the Primrose Lounge. Usually she reads for only one hour, but this Sunday she read for two hours because the book was so interesting. All our thanks to Estella. In the evening, Rev. John Burgess held the chapel service and June Mason helped by playing the organ. Sincere thanks to John and June.

Monday was devoted to Resident's Council. New officers were elected; President - Lilian Harrison, Vice-President - Winnifred Barnum, Secretary - Judy Stevenson, and Treasurer - Ken Anderson.

Tuesday chapel service was conducted by Rev. P. Walford-Davis. This service was a memorial service for Ken Campbell who passed away January 24, 1994. Our sympathy to his family and friends. During the service, Rev. Walford-Davis gave anyone who knew Ken the opportunity to give a short eulogy. Doris Robertson spoke of her contact with Ken while he was here and Jock Mavor spoke of his friendship since they were in the Air Force together. It was a lovely service. Jean Cox played the organ. Our thanks to everyone.

Margaret O'Shaughnessy came for crafts in the evening. Pearl Cowan also came in to help us play cards. Thank you.

Wednesday we were very happy to have Jock Mavor sing and play his omnichord. He and his wife had been in Florida for some time. Thanks Jock, sincerely.

Thursday was the tea party. The ladies from the Allsaw Pentecostal Church came down to bring tea for us. It was a delicious tea served by the following ladies: Julie Goodwin, Margaret Murray, Elsie McPhail, Ruth Nesbett, Kathy Gartshore, Cathy Mitchell, Donna Bath, and Becky Schwartuntruber. After the tea the ladies led us in a hymn-a-long. We truly enjoyed the afternoon and thank them all for coming in. In the evening Kathy Woods came and called Bingo for us in the dining room. Thank you Kathy.

Friday we watched a Danielle Steele video in the auditorium and had happy hour in the afternoon. The entertainment was Doris on the piano and Norm Graham playing the violin. The residents and friends who felt like doing their own thing did it. Thank you Norm and Doris.

IN MEMORIAM

MINTZ, Merval Duncan - In loving memory of a dear son, brother, brother-in-law and uncle who passed away February 28, 1990.
We always thought of you as a special One
A loving brother and a wonderful son.
Your laugh, your smile, your loving ways
Cannot be dimmed by the passing days.
The years hurry by and change many things
But never the love the thought of you brings.
No space of time, no lapse of years
Can dim the treasured past.
Sadly missed and ever remembered by
Mom, brothers Larry and Andre, sister Gloria and families.

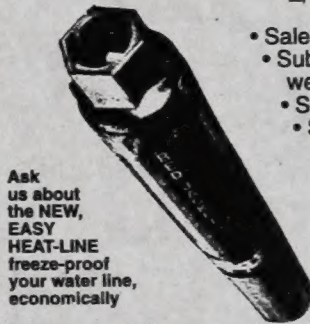

IN MEMORIAM

THOMAS - In loving memory of our dear son and brother Larry who left us February 27, 1990. When family ties are broken And loved ones have to part It leaves a wound that never heals
And also, broken hearts.
But looking back on memories Upon the paths we trod, We are blest for the years We had with him, And leave the rest to God.
Loved forever, Mom, Dad and family.

EVERSON, Beatrice - In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and nana who passed away February 26, 1991. Your presence we miss, Your memory we treasure Loving you always Forgetting you never.
Sadly missed by husband Bill, Ken, Leslie, Kim, Tim and families.

BAGSHAW - In memory of Brother Thomas February 26, 1950
Mother Annie January 5, 1966
Father Thomas December 17, 1968
Brother Alick February 27, 1989.
Always a smile,
Never a frown
Always lending a hand
To anyone down.
Always true, thoughtful and kind
Great memories they left behind.
Treasured thoughts of ones so dear.
Lovingly remembered by Clara, Alvin and families.
